THE HOME TO LEADERS with heart

4 Why Huron?
6 What Can I Study?
10 How Can Huron Activate My Career?
18 What Will My Student Experience Look Like?
28 How Do I Apply?
For more than 160 years, Huron has prioritized ethical leadership, community engagement, and professional success. This means students receive a well-rounded education that prepares them to make a positive impact in their chosen field and in the communities around them.

Our small class sizes allow our world-renowned professors to concentrate on each individual student and nurture their unique gifts. Students have access to skilled professionals and resources to support their academic, career, and personal goals. All this, while keeping an eye towards civic responsibility and compassion towards others.

At Huron, Leadership with Heart is a guiding philosophy that is demonstrated through the actions and accomplishments of our incredible community. Part of that includes striving towards leaving our world better than we found it.

Choose Huron and discover what it means to be a Leader with Heart, just like Margaret, Nhial, Michael, Cogie, and many others before them have done.
In recent decades, most Canadian universities have chosen to massify undergraduate education, issuing as many degrees to as many students as possible, taking in tens of thousands of students while offering each individual student less. In these learning environments, hundreds, and often thousands, of students are crammed into one giant lecture hall. At Huron, we have taken a completely opposite approach, with an unwavering commitment to quality over quantity. We specialize in select programs, while intentionally limiting our enrollment to a set number of students. This allows us to nurture every student’s individual vision and needs. We provide individualized opportunities and elite connections, enabling students to enjoy a meaningful education where they can distinguish themselves from other university graduates.

HUNDREDS OF STUDENTS PER CLASS
- Watch slideshows and memorize textbooks with minimal participation – an approach to learning that hasn’t evolved in decades.

LIMITED INTERNSHIPS
- Competing with thousands of other students for limited opportunities makes it challenging for every student to access a meaningful internship opportunity.

SUPPORT BOTTLENECK
- Too many students with too few advisors makes receiving adequate support a challenge.
- With hundreds of students in a class, it’s hard to make connections – or even raise your hand.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE

HAILEY’S EXCHANGE TO LEEDS UNIVERSITY IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

Going on exchange allowed Huron Global Studies student Hailey Budgell to truly engage in global learning. Being placed in international student modules at Leeds University in the United Kingdom gave Hailey the chance to learn from students from around the world and gain insight into new perspectives.

Travelling, taking part in clubs and sports, and living on campus provided a way for Hailey to stay involved, get to know other students, and learn more about the community and culture of Leeds.

“Education happens beyond your textbook - it’s about all the developmental experiences you get along the way. Studying abroad has given me the self-confidence and independence I will need to succeed in the workforce. The connections I’ve made at Huron and abroad will follow me for life.” Hailey says.

Huron students are fully supported throughout their exchange. While abroad, Hailey continued to receive one-on-one support from her academic advisor, her professors, and even her alumni mentor.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Huron offers a broad range of experiential learning opportunities that allow you to make connections with local businesses, non-profits, and community leaders so you can apply what you learn in the classroom to your surroundings.

As part of a course on the Sixty Years’ War, Huron’s History department set sail for a 5-day trip on a tall ship with a group of students for a journey from Erie, Pennsylvania to Cobourg, Ontario.

At Huron, students are offered experiential learning opportunities to pitch their ideas and even work 1:1 with Canada’s business leaders, such as Wes Hall from the TV show Dragon’s Den.

An influential figure on Bay Street and Huron Board Vice-Chair, Wes Hall was recently awarded Huron’s Medal of Distinction for outstanding community service. Watch this video to hear from Wes about the award and what it means to him. Scan the QR code to learn more or go to HuronU.ca/WesHall.

Cogie begins another internship as a research assistant for Dr. Kendra Coulter, narrowing their focus to environmental sustainability as it relates to animal welfare.

Cogie becomes recognized as a leading student voice in environmental sustainability and is invited to a UN climate change convention in Kenya to represent Canadian youth, a climate change fellowship at Duke University, and to an ecology conference in Ottawa.

As Sustainability Commissioner for the HUCSC, Cogie was able to implement the Blue Community Initiative, which saw a campus-wide ban on the sale of bottled water products and Huron’s commitment to only use publicly-financed water and wastewater services.

Served on the Youth Advisory Council for the Jane Goodall Institute of Canada.

Selected as one of 32 leaders from across the country, Cogie took part in the CEO x 1 Day program and spent a day shadowing Jeffrey Orridge, CEO of TVO.

Cogie is recognized as one of Canada's Top 25 Environmentalists Under 25.

Cogie plans to apply to graduate programs in environmental sustainability, with a focus on the welfare of animals.
BUILDING YOUR NETWORK

It’s not just about what you know, but also who you know. Because of the Huron connection, Canada’s most successful leaders are just an email, phone call, or meeting away.

With one of Canada’s most powerful alumni networks, and Huron’s Board of Governors being made up of leading Canadian figures, Huron gives students the upper hand in their careers. These leaders have chosen to volunteer their time to support our students and work as mentors, provide internships, and even instruct courses. These industry leaders understand the value of a Huron education and want to help our students directly access the most prestigious opportunities and accelerate their leadership growth.

Peer mentorship connects you with an upper-year student who will guide you through the transition into university life. From academic to professional success, you will always have someone in your corner to advise you on what to expect next. Alumni mentorship connects you with industry-leading professionals who were also Huron students. These impressive alumni can provide insight and advice as you begin to explore postgraduate studies or career opportunities.

Utilizing her business knowledge from her courses and Huron’s Mentorship Program, Katelyn learned the value of networking to combine her program with her personal passion for the fashion industry.

She was matched with Sarah Harvison, a Huron alumna who is now the Director of Studio Partnerships at Lululemon. Katelyn was able to connect with her mentor regularly, which helped her gain an understanding of recruitment practices, successfully prepare for interviews, and learn more about career opportunities in the fashion industry. With the help of her mentor, Katelyn secured a paid internship at Harry Rosen in Toronto. After Katelyn’s internship, she was offered full time employment upon graduation.

LEADERSHIP with heart
HURON’S ELITE CONNECTIONS

As a tight-knit community, we can get to know our students and their career ambitions. When students are looking for opportunities, we not only have the support and resources available, but also know exactly who to connect them with to accelerate their success.

Knowing his passions and career goals, Huron connected Carl Lubano with Jason Melbourne, Global Head of Distribution, Canaccord Genuity – the largest independent investment dealer in Canada with over $7 billion in assets. Carl was able to speak with Jason about his career interests, including his upcoming internship at CIBC Capital Markets.

Chelsea Smith’s guidance and expertise empowered Ella Vitols to approach the law school application process with clarity and confidence. As Ella submitted her applications, Chelsea remained a source of encouragement, celebrating each milestone and providing reassurance during the waiting period. Ella is now pursuing her studies in law at Queen’s University.

Huron student Dakshina Kannan was interested in getting involved with the Jays Care Foundation and expressed her interest to Huron President Dr. Barry Craig in connecting with Melinda Rogers-Hixon. Later that day, Dakshina received an email from Melinda herself to discuss further opportunities.
