UNDERSTAND THE PAST

PREPARE FOR THE FUTURE

IN A WORLD ROCKED BY QUESTIONS ABOUT TRUTH, EVIDENCE AND THE NATURE OF HUMAN UNDERSTANDING, HISTORY MATTERS.

Studying History at Huron fosters empathy, brings precision and energy to your writing, and connects you to professional networks. It prepares Leaders with Heart for critical and engaged citizenship.

History at Huron places students at the heart of world-class research on democracy, racial and gender equality, the repairing of relationships with Indigenous peoples, and the future of human freedom. Studying History at Huron will shake up easy expectations about what History means and why it matters to us, right here and right now.

THE HURON ADVANTAGE

HISTORY AT HURON IS A DYNAMIC AND EXCITING DEPARTMENT THAT OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES FOR HANDS-ON ARCHIVAL RESEARCH, DIGITAL SCHOLARSHIP, FUNDED RESEARCH TRAVEL, LOCAL AND GLOBAL PARTNERSHIPS AND COLLABORATION WITH FACULTY.

Our Joint Minor in Public History and Huron's new Interdisciplinary Minor in the History of the Book take your studies to the leading edge of research in the Humanities.

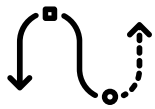

Our innovative, research-driven and award-winning teaching will transform the way you think about the past and the way you see the present.

"The past continuously and innumably affects the present. Through this program, you are able to become familiar with lessons from history that are directly relevant to the everyday spaces you inhabit to positively influence them. Best of all, at Huron, history is taught in such a radically different way from high school. Your focus can become so much more nuanced and you are introduced to areas that tend to be neglected by the larger narrative. That's definitely one of the most valuable things about our program."

BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

Every Huron History student participates in experiential research as part of learning the historian's craft. Recent examples include:

PHANTOMS OF THE PAST

Slavery, Resistance, History and Memory in the Atlantic World: A transatlantic research exchange in which students travel to London, Bath and Bristol in the United Kingdom, exploring 18th and 19th-century slavery and anti-slavery movements through histories, texts, images and cultural memory.

TRANSATLANTIC DIGITAL VICTORIANS

A transatlantic research project with Huddersfield University in the UK. Students work with local community heritage partners to photograph and research historical objects and create virtual exhibits.

LAND, LITERACIES AND LEARNING

Using documents from the Huron Diocesan Archive and rare books in the Huron Library Collection, students create maps of Indigenous language publishers, virtual exhibits of rare books in Indigenous languages and short Heritage Minute films documenting the lives of Ojibwa alumni of Huron.

PREPARING YOU FOR THE FUTURE:

History leads the humanities in preparing students for careers in law, management, public service, and education, but beyond those pathways, you'll find your History program gives you the flexibility and experience to take on any career you can imagine. Our History alumni have outstanding records in graduate and professional studies after Huron, and are employed in a range of fields, from digital communications, journalism, film and publishing to urban planning and global health policy.

PUBLIC HISTORY CAREERS:

Our Joint Minor in Public History (PH) is the first undergraduate program of its kind in Canada. The PH program at Huron introduces you to the dynamic and growing field of Public History. Hands-on History experience prepares you for professional study on your way to a career in public policy, archival management, museum and curatorial practice, heritage, design and more.

“Never underestimate the value of a History degree – especially at Huron. Two key things in the department that sets it apart: the experiential learning program and close-knit collaborations between students and professors. At Huron, you express where you want to go and the History Department will do whatever it takes to help you get these. Not only did this program enable me to learn a lot of valuable skills through paid positions, but it demonstrated how journalism and history collide – a relationship that has defined much of my career.”

“Whether you study the clash of global empires or explore family life in small villages, history is filled with strange, terrible, and wonderful human stories that teach us vital lessons about our world. I delight in helping students master the skills needed to uncover and interpret evidence from the past. My goals are to challenge students to think critically about how the past shapes our present, and to guide students to discover history’s tragedies, triumphs, and mysteries for themselves.”
